It is with unusual regret that we were anable to accept the invitation of the Missouri Pacific Railway to accompany the Missouri editors in a "Seeing Mist souri" tour of the state. The special train left St. Louis Monday morning and is making a trip over the Missouri Pacific lines with stop at points of interest. The railroad not only furnishes the train but is also "boarding" the editors free during the trip. That ought to be a snap for some editors! Maybe that's the reason we regret missing it so much.

"While some complaints are being made elsewhere, put it down that where I live we have had weather as nearly right as though we had ordered it," remarked H. T. Sandidge, of Shackeleford, Mo." "A few days ago that section was visited by a heavy rain. Now everything is green, and the country looks well. The wheat crop is made, and will be the best we have had in several years. Corn is being plowed over the second time and never looked more promising. So we are not saying a word against the weather man, but on the other hand are smiling at such very favorable conditions. I think oversupply of educated farmers. it would be safe to say that one though it didn't move an inch could go clear across many of the 40-acre corn fields and not find a hill out. So perfect is the stand little he got pop-eyed and thought of corn that it is noticeable in riding along the side of a field."-Kansas City Drovers Telegram.

ART IN FRUIT PACKING

Make Berries Look Like Posme and

Roap a Worth While Reward. Here is shown the way to pack raspberries for the high class markets. Selected and fixed as they are, they are poems of unture, and the short saired farmer who gets them ready often makes more on a crate than the good set of verses.

First, of course, you must have your perfect berry, and after that no care is too great to send it to market in tempting fashion. Clean, crisp boxes; tissue paper, preferably of a light green tint; concentric arrangement of the layers and the packing of the boxes in crates to prevent a single berry be ing crushed will bring Standard Off dividends to any fruit grower.

Education and wealth have made the average consumer most fastidious, He or she cares no more to have a lot of mixed up berries indled out in bulk. The cost is no object. The quality is the thing.

EDUCATED FARMERS.

Railroad King Says United States Can Never Have Oversupply of Them.

Few men in the world know more about farming as a wealth producer than does James J. Hill, the railroad king; hence this extract from an article of his in the Yale (colleges News is well worth perusal.

"It seems probable to me." writes Mr. Hill, "that there are a good many bundred university graduates in this country every year who would be better off if they had shaped their studies with a view to agricultural industry and taken their diploma straight to the

Many things used in daily life have to be bought, but most of our troubles are homemade.

An Effective Fly Trap. Hugo Blumhorst went to Slater Every garbage can and swill barrel can be converted into a fly trap if the device invented by Dr. Cliften F. Hodge of Clark university biological department be adopted. The can or barrel is fitted with a loose cover which permits the flee to enter. At the top of the cover is an opening leading to a wire screen fly trap, and it is a peculiar fact that most of the flee entering the can in search of food will choose to make their exit at the top of the can and thus go to their death in the trap.

This method is not patented and therefore may be used by everybody.

Orchard and Garden.

Don't sell all the good fruit. Keep ing is too good for "our folks."

The best remedy for pear and apple light is to cut out and burn the affected twigs as fast as they appear. Few persons realize to what extent fungous troubles are robbing the fruit
